Abstract

A list of Internet websites for property assessment organizations and assessment education organizations in the United States and Canada. Several international assessments organizations that have members in the United States and Canada are also included. While every attempt has been made to include all property assessment organizations, please notify the author of those you wish to have considered for upcoming editions of this white paper.

This white paper includes selected electronic publications available on the Internet that were initially collected during the period from February 16, 2006 through December 5, 2010. Each website link was reviewed and updated where needed on December 19, 2010.

White Papers are intended to provide general information to property assessment administration professionals and the general public. White Papers are not intended to give specific advice to practitioners and the public where local and/or state tax laws and generally accepted practices conflict with the position taken by the White Paper's author.

Websites listed are not endorsed, nor is the author or Local Government Services International responsible for their content.
